Since 1942, Didi Hirsch Community Mental Health Center has provided mental health services to the people of Los Angeles. We offer a full range of counseling, mental health and substance abuse programs, serving 29,000 children, families, adults and seniors each year from communities throughout Southern California.

The Center was founded as the first community-based adult outpatient clinic in Los Angeles. With the inspiration and generosity of Mrs. I. Kingdon (Didi) Hirsch, the Center's Culver City headquarters were established in 1974.

At 12 service sites and many schools throughout the County, we provide treatment regardless of an individual's ability to pay, creating a safety net for those in need. We offer services to the working poor and uninsured, and to those unable to find help elsewhere.

We invite you to visit the Center to see for yourself the range of care that we provide – from our 24-hour emergency crisis line to day treatment to community outreach. It is your support that makes our work possible.

Didi Hirsch Community Mental Health Center is committed to empowering our clients to maximize their potential by providing quality behavioral healthcare services to the community and those in need.
